

Hello there,

Welcome to Rob's Drum Shed. After lots of work it is my pleasure to present you with a workspace for students (past, present and future) now available on the web.

It is my intention to help reinforce what you learn in your lessons and present an extensive range of material that I have written and arranged over the years, for your access.

I have a vast archive of material, from the late 70's to the present, to share with you so I hope you stay tuned for the weekly instalments.

Students will need to log in and get a password to use the resources section, (just click on enquiry at top of the page) and fill in the details. I will send you a password by return email.

The resources section contains the PDFs and footage of the different lessons available.

Most of the content here is original material, well, it's my version or interpretation of experiences and lessons that have helped me become a better player. I come in contact with the most amazing drummers/musicians/people on a daily basis. For that I am grateful. It keeps me inspired on my musical journey through life.

This website is presented in the way that I understand those experiences, and would like to communicate them to you.

Remember that everyone is different, this is my version of it.

Also, it is a "work in progress" designed to evolve in an organic "earthy" sense.

Enjoy,

Rob
